

The Lavender Room

Romantic, spacious and relaxing the Lavender room, situated in the oldest part of the house, was constructed centuries ago with one metre thick stone walls, it's very quiet & intimate and accessed through a private independent entrance via double doors. Facing east with views across the farmhouse terraced gardens to the distant medieval town of Macerata. The Lavender room has original hand hewed oak beams, original ceiling tiles and exposed stonework including the former arched entrance to the cantina. This room has a refrigerator and guests enjoy shopping locally, to stock up with wines, beers, fresh salads, sliced meats, cheeses and relax in the room's private patio area, or choose any of the private seating areas in the gardens or olive groves to picnic, light some candles and gaze up at the starlit sky.
